Gambone Development Company Launches New Commercial Website

January 19, 2007 – A completely updated and enhanced web site was launched today by the commercial division at Gambone Development Company. With a brand new appearance and format, the new web site contains information on the various Gambone commercial properties, while also having a more user friendly format. The new web site can be viewed at <http://www.gambone.com/commercial/default.html>

“This new web site will allow anyone to have access to available information on all of our current properties as well as some future job sites,” said Joe Gambone Jr., President of Gambone Development Company.

With the development of the new commercial web site, every property whether it be office, industrial or retail, is able to be shown like never before. Each property listing is now displayed in an easy to navigated layout and each have undergone extensive content updates. Components such as informative descriptions, updated photography and demographics, location maps and recently re-flown aerial shots highlight each property. Also appearing on the newly over-hauled site, are monthly updates on property availability and pricing as well as contact information for any inquiries.

Features such as press releases on ground breaking news and grand openings along with a partial listing of tenants who have chosen a Gambone Commercial Property to showcase their business can all be found on the new commercial web site.

In addition, a Gambone’s “Land Development Division” and “Additional Services” have been included to direct people who maybe interested in the possible sale of their privately owned land by filling out a short questionnaire—we would be happy to help landowners achieve their individual goals.

Please feel to direct any inquiries of the capabilities of Gambone Development Company’s Commercial Services division to jgambone@gambone.com

Additional enhancements are planned for <http://www.gambone.com> in the future.
